

The will of her son, John Collson, isn't much better, if any. Below is a portion of the will of John Collson.

They used penstaffs with penpoints in them which were dipped into containers of ink; many times the ink "blobbed" and it is almost impossible to read a letter or two of what was written. But, thank goodness for even the "blobs".

No: Carolina ^{do}
In the Name of God Amen I John Collson of Bartee precint do make Constitute and Appoint This to be my Last will and Testament hereby Revoking all other or former Wills Made by me:

Item: